

SATW 2010 – Welcome from Tim O’Keefe

There is so much to see and do in the German State of Saxony that SATW’s annual convention will be split between two of its most remarkable and distinctive cities: Dresden and Leipzig.

Although both Dresden and Leipzig are historically famous, as part of the former East Germany the two are largely unknown to most North American travelers.

Based on my preliminary trip in November, I can promise every SATW member will find a wealth of material in the region’s extraordinary architecture, rich museums, delicious foods and wines, stylish shopping venues and varied outdoor activities.

With airlift available from virtually every mainland gateway, this will be one of the easiest conventions ever to attend.

Mark the dates October 8-13 for the core meeting, with pre trips running from October 4-8 and post trips from October 13-18.

Prepare to be impressed, amazed and occasionally outright astonished in German Saxony, 2010.
